B. Comprehension

1. Jake is going on a trip. He and his mom take a taxi to the airport. "It's my first plane trip," he tells the taxi driver. "That's great!" the taxi driver says. Jake rolls his suitcase onto the plane. "It's my first plane trip," he tells the pilot. "Welcome aboard," the pilot says. Jake finds his seat and buckles his seatbelt. The plane's engines rumble and roar. Jake opens his backpack and pulls out Panda. "It's my first plane trip," he whispers. He holds Panda's paw. The plane moves faster and faster. Then—Whoosh! On the ground, cars and houses look like toys. Jake smiles. "Guess what, Panda?" he says. "Flying is fun!"

2. There was once a big, white hen that had twelve little chicks. The chicks were very small, and the old hen took good care of them. The chicks always did what the hen told them to do. One day, the old hen took her chicks down to a small brook. It was very pretty on the other side of the brook, and the hen wanted to take her chicks over there. There was a large stone in the brook. The hen thought her chicks were big enough to jump onto that stone. Then they could jump from the stone to the other side. So, the hen jumped onto the stone and told the chicks to come after her. For the first time, the chicks would not obey her. The hen flapped her wings and cried, "Come here, all of you! Jump onto this stone with me. Then, we can all jump to the other side." The chicks still would not obey her. "Oh, Mother! We can't, we can't, we can't!" said all the little chicks. "Yes, you can if you try," said the old hen. "Just flap your wings like this, and you can jump over." "We are flapping our wings," said Chippy. "But our jumps are too little." The chicks were worried that the hen would be mad at them. The mother hen jumped back onto the bank. "You are all still too small," she said. She picked up all the chicks in her big wings and carried them across the brook

I went to the brook to splash in the water and I saw this little fish. Then I told Frank about the fish, and he ran to get his fishing rod. He put the rod into the water and caught the fish, and I put it into this bucket." "Well, what will you do with it?" asked John's mother. "I will keep it, mom," replied John. "But, my boy, it will not live in that bucket. You should put it back into the brook," replied his mother. John frowned. "I wish I could keep it. It is so pretty! May I put it into the pond?" "No, John," said his Mom. "You must put it into the brook. A trout will not live in the warm pond. The trout needs to go back to its home: the clear, cold brook."

"Yes, I'll shut my eyes while you all go and hide," replied Fred. Then Fred stood by the tree and shut his eyes, and the other boys ran off to hide. Pretty soon Fred shouted, "Boys, are you all hidden? Well, here I go. One, two, three, here I come!" Fred started to look for the hidden boys. He spotted Andrew hiding in a box. "Ha! I found you, Andrew. You are in that box!" shouted Fred. Then Fred said to Roy, "I found you, Roy. You are under the sofa." Fred could not find Frank. Fred kept looking and then saw Frank behind the curtain. "Oh there he is! I found you, Frank. Come out from behind the curtain. I see your black shoes!" shouted Fred.
